Training Overview

Great teamwork consists of individuals who are committed to working together in achieving common goals. While an organization may be made up of different individuals from many cultural backgrounds and with varying abilities, talents and experiences, teambuilding activities can help bring everyone together to be equal in an important way – commitment to the organization and to each other. This program sets out to help participants (both expat and local employees) to get to know one another better and learn to work cohesively together through challenging but enjoyable activities that showcase Malaysian and other cultures. This teambuilding event provides the best opportunity for participants to see how Cultural Intelligence can be put into application through various fun-filled activities. By the end of the day, everyone will enjoy learning to align themselves toward set goals and continue with the same mindset when they are back at the workplace.
